VERA CRUZ TAKEN.

(Written for United Press.)
Washington, April 22.—The White House this afternoon issued the following announcement:

"Dispatch received from Consul Canada announced that the American forces are now in entire possession of the city; that apparently no fatalities among American and foreign non-combatants and that firing has ceased except for occasional picket shots."

LAND AT TAMPICO.

(By United Press.)
Washington, April 22.—Secretary Bryan admitted this afternoon that marines had landed at Tampico and it was believed possible that the Vera Cruz battle might be duplicated there.

(By United Press.)

Washington, April 22.—Huerta dead or alive!

That will be the order issued to the army should eventualities in Mexico force the President to use that branch of the service in the present crisis now at hand.

There is no doubt of that in the

CAPTAIN RUSH OF FLAGSHIP FLORIDA.

To Captain William R. Rush fell the duty yesterday of landing the first United States marines on Mexican soil at Vera Cruz from the Florida. They seized the customs house, but not without the loss of four marines killed and twenty wounded. The Florida is the flagship of Rear Admiral Frank E. Fletcher, commanding the first division of the Atlantic fleet.

Washington, April 22.—In the special message to both houses of congress this afternoon, the President asked an appropriation of $500,000 for the bringing of Americans out of Mexico.

BULLETIN.

(By United Press.)

Washington, April 22.—The third division of the Atlantic fleet now at Boston was ordered today to sail for Mexico, April 25.

(By United Press.)

Washington, April 22.—Congress today placed President Wilson in sole and absolute charge of hostilities against Mexico. The resolution justifying his course and giving him unlimited power to use every material force was passed by both the Senate and House.

It was sent to him for approval at 10:30.

Congress expects that a resolution declaring war will soon follow.

Following passage by the Senate at 3:20 this morning by a vote of 73 to 13 of the Mexican resolution, the House at 10:28 today took similar action by a viva voce vote.

No roll call was demanded in the lower legislative body. A feeble chorus of "Noes" was drowned in a thunderous volume of "Ayes" and the resolution was concurred in by the House and sent post haste to the President.

Less than half hour was required for the summary action of the House. The resolution was laid before it at 10:16. Fifteen minutes later it was declared a law.

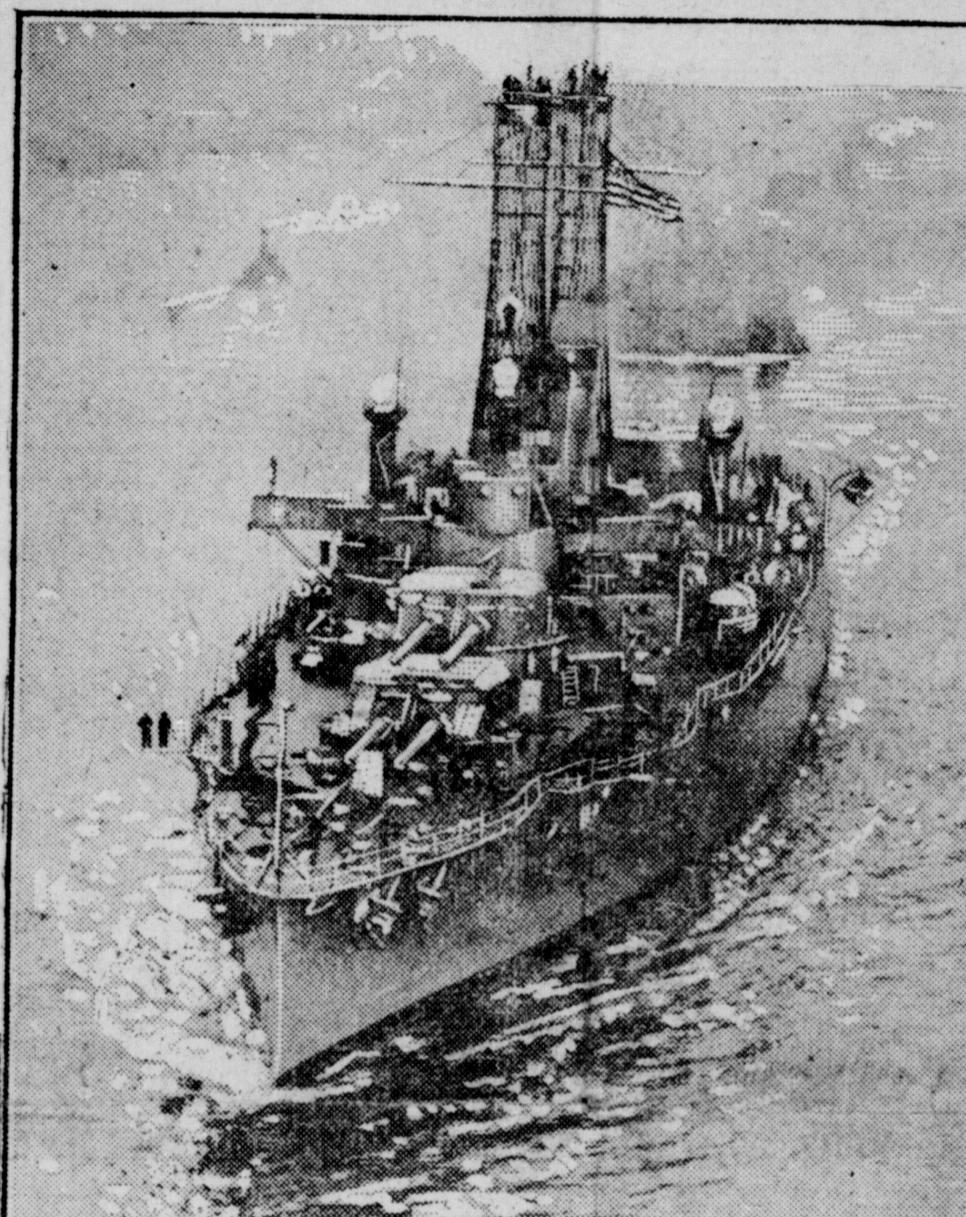

The Senate had talked and disputed and quibbled over the words in the resolution. The House acted. There was practically no debate. Chairman Flood of the Foreign affairs committee called up the resolution as amended by the Senate.

A. O. Neal, High School Inspector, Addresses Last Meeting of Parent-Teachers Association.

NEW OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

Austin Frazee Chosen President and Frank Forry Vice-President—Others Re-Elected.

A. O. Neal of Indianapolis, state inspector of high schools, spoke at the closing meeting of the Parent-teachers association of the high school at the Graham building last night. New officers were also elected.

The by-laws say that in elections any member may vote for whom he or she chooses, but last night, to save time, President Ralph Payne appointed a nominating committee composed of H. B. Wilson and Mrs. F. G. Hackleman. This was the wish of the meeting.

The report of the nominating committee, which was as follows, was adopted: president, Austin Frazee; vice-president, Frank Forry; secretary, L. B. Smelser; treasurer, B. F. Miller. Mr. Frazee made a short speech, and on motion of B. F. Miller, a vote of thanks was tendered the retiring president.

Mr. Neal said that Rushville had

TALKS ONLY ON STATE ISSUES.

Shows Party in Power has not Carried Out its Platform Pledges in Regard to Economy.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., April 22.—Howard Maxwell of Rockville, who delivered the keynote speech at the Republican state convention this afternoon, devoted himself to state issues alone. He ridiculed the promise of the Democrats in Indiana regarding their declaration for economy, which he said was a mere catch-word.

Mr. Maxwell quoted the platform pledges of the Democratic party in Indiana and then showed that under Democratic regime the number of boards, commissions and officials had persistently increased. At the state house alone, he said, the increase in appointees to state boards and creation of new positions runs into the hundreds and total increase in salary paid only those new officials having offices at the state house aggregates $183,450.00 a year.

"The legislature of 1911 created four new commissions," he continued.

"In 1908, the last year of Republican Administration, the total annual expense of all the Boards and

STREET SPRINKLING PLANS

City Will Sprinkle and Sweep Business Streets Every Night and Resident Streets Each Week.

A resolution calling for the oiling of practically every unpaved street in the city was passed last night by the city council. The oiling will be done as a public improvement and will be taxed to the property owners. This is in accordance with the law passed by the last legislature. Remonstrators will be heard May 12, and if none appear, bids will then be advertised.

While on the questions of streets, the council heard George C. Wyatt, who was appointed to a committee from the retail merchants committee of the Chamber of Commerce, to see the council regarding the sprinkling of the brick streets in the business district. The question of water was discussed and the council offered to sell the merchants river water at the rate of five cents per thousand gallons.

The council believed that if the streets were oiled approaching the Early this afternoon the fears of the arrangement committee were realized. Tomlinson Hall appeared quite too small for the gathering. An earlier attempt had been made to obtain the coliseum at the state fair grounds, but with no heating arrangement possible, that building might have proved unsatisfactory. State issues discussed by Howard Maxwell and national issues as seen by W. A. Prendergast, who helped with Theodore Roosevelt to form the Progressive party, proved a great attraction.

The delegates and others had come from the Severin hotel, where earlier in the day precinct committeemen had listened to instructions by many capable party workers. The original plan had been to have five former state chairmen as instructors, but the death of Charles Hernley of Newcastle and the illness of John K. Gowdy of Rushville made this impossible. Fred Simms of Frankfort, J. P. Goodrich of Winchester and George F. McCullough, were there. Other instructors were Judge Charles Henderson of Green county, Charles Remey of Indianapolis, Charles W. Jewett, Marion county chairman.

Practical politics were discussed

Shooting and Hitting

Only the shots that hits win battles.

The same thing is true in advertising. Only the advertising that reaches possible buyers is worth-while.

Because they can concentrate their shots and score a larger proportion of hits, manufacturers are coming to use the daily newspapers more and more.

They reach consumers direct. They gain the friendship of the local dealers.

Every dollar they spend counts definitely.

They can see the results and can tell just exactly when and how they hit.

To sell goods in the modern way is to advertise in the newspapers!

AUTO LIGHTS MUST BE ON AFTER DARK

Two Men Before Mayor, But Are Released After Satisfactory Explanation—To be Enforced.

MUST DISPLAY 1914 NUMBER

The police are having trouble with automobile owners running their machines at night without the required lights. As was promised some time ago, arrests will follow. Two men were up before Mayor Beabout, but gave a satisfactory explanation. Many machines are noticed at night without a rear light and from now on all owners or drivers will be arrested, as the police believe enough warning has been given.

The law states that the lights must be burning one-half hour after sunset. The law makes no provision for turning out the lights when the machine is left standing next to the curb in the business district, or any other place and the lights must be displaced just the same. It has been the custom for machine owners to turn off the lights when the machine is left standing, but the law makes no provision for this and the police promise to make arrests. The new 1914 numbers must also be displayed.

Trial of Milroy Boys Will Take Place Tomorrow.

The cases against Clyde Martin, Elbert and William Poole of Milroy, which were to have been heard this afternoon by Squire Kratzer, were postponed until tomorrow afternoon when it was found that the state did not have all of its witnesses. Martin is charged with assault and battery on Lee Marshall and with carrying concealed weapons. The other two boys are charged with assault and battery. The fight occurred in Milroy Sunday night.

The only difference between the territory we work in the buggy business and the territory the flea works is we leave everybody in a satisfied frame of mind and we reckon the flea doesn't. There are lots of fellows selling buggies, however, that are like the flea. They jump over lots of territory, get a bite here and there and don't care whether you are satisfied or not, but we do want your business all the time and that is the reason we make our buggy guarantee as good as old line life insurance. SHOWS PROBLEM OF HIGH SCHOOL had a reputation for some time for having progressive schools. He said that school work was very strenuous for the trustees and the school teachers, but that the pupils felt not half so strenuous as their attendance at school.

He asked the audience to assume that the school supplies, or is asked to supply, what the home does not supply in the life of the child. This was the cause for beginning of the public school, he pointed out. Although the fundamentals were formerly the only things taught, the school officials are now continually asked to add something new to the curriculum. He recalled the pupils were first taught to read so they could read the Bible, and to sing so they could sing hymns. He detailed the history of the addition of music and drawing to school curriculums.

Mr. Neal said it was often wondered whether it paid to spend so much in school upkeep. He recalled no one should complain when the salaries of all the teachers in the United States are not as great as the amount spent on motion picture shows in a year; that more is spent for chewing gum than for school books; that to make Huerta salute the firing of one 13-inch gun cost $1,700, as much as it would require to send a boy through college. One warship, he pointed out, would build a good part of the Lincoln highway.

He said the opinion still prevailed the schools should supply what is not to be supplied in the room, and that this was the reason for the institution of manual training and domestic science. He quoted the figures that twelve years of schooling, it has been proved by statistics, is worth $10 a day to the school child.

Mr. Neal wrote on the blackboard and commented on some figures resulting from an investigation made in a small city; smaller than Rushville, in northern Indiana. From 1881 to the present 408 graduated from the high school, 155 boys and 253 girls. Of the graduates 179, or 43 per cent, attended college. They were divided 95 boys and 84 girls. Twelve per cent of the number which graduated from high school graduated from college, 38 boys and 11 girls.

The work of the parents from whose homes the high school graduates came was as follows; 8 lawyers, 1 teacher, 3 dentists, 25 doctors, 141 merchants, 50 tradesmen, 36 day laborers, 5 preachers and 148 farmers. The occupations of the high school graduates were, 8 boys lawyers, 44 boys and 92 girls, 2 boys dentists, 7 boys and 1 girl doctors, 10 boys and 3 girls merchants, 25 boys and 26 girls in trades, 34 boys and 49 girls day laborers, 33 boys and 33 girls in miscellaneous vocations, no preachers and 8 boys farmers.

The last topic was the source of comment by Mr. Neal. He said this was the problem the school confronted. Of the 148 graduates of that high school coming from the farm only 8 returned. Up until five years ago, he said, only 3 had returned to the farm.

LIFE on the SCREEN

"CAPTURED BY MEXICANS."

SEVERAL months ago Don and Cleo Ridgeley, two prominent photoplay performers, left New York on a horseback trip to San Francisco. The tourists recently arrived at Los Angeles after an arduous journey and were prevailed upon to appear in a Kalem drama based upon an incident of their trip. This is the drama, "Captured by Mexicans," in two parts, released April 8.

"Golden Gate Weekly No. 65" (California Motion Picture corporation).—The new Vanderbilt cup race course, the Santa Monica road, is one of the most interesting numbers on this release. Ralph De Palma is shown winning with his giant Mercedes. The troops on the march for the Mexican border, leaving the Presidio, is a stirring scene.

Telegraph orders for "The Perils of Pauline," the Eclectic feature production, are reported by Jule Burnstein, the manager of the Eclectic Feature Film Exchange, to be very heavy.

"The Acid Test" (Victor. Two reels).—J. Warren Kerrigan and Cleo Madison in the leading parts. Mr. Kerrigan plays the part of a city attorney and presents a good moral lesson. The title is very good. The photography is better than usual. Action is fast.

"A Spoiled Life" (Pathé. Two reels).—The latter half of the second reel of this picture is devoted to an industrial called "Making Lace Fans." It is made by the German company. The part of the hunchback is excellently played.

ELEANOR WOODRUFF.

Eleanor Woodruff is one of the talented members of the Pathé players, who is often seen in moving life.

"The Caballero's Way" (Eclair-Universal).—A three reel "western," following the story written by O. Henry. Although the three reels contain many good fighting scenes, the feature is the terrible hand to hand encounter in the last reel. The realism in this scene is wonderful.

"Tess of the Storm Country" (Famous Players).—"Hearts Adrift" was Mary Pickford, with little or no drama. "Tess of the Storm Country" is Mary Pickford plus a drama that permits the versatile little actress to display her dramatic abilities as well as her charming personality.

"The Monster and the Girl" (Solax).—The feature of this four reel production is a terrible hand to hand conflict waged on a swinging cable in midair. The story is one containing much action, with which is interwoven a romantic story of unusual excellence.

RUTH HENNESSY.

ONE of the sensational photo plays with a moral is "The Spider and Her Web" (Rex). It is a problem in psychology—mental suggestion. Reformation and romance are the keynotes.

Ruth Hennessy is a popular member of the Essanay Film Stock company, often seen in Essanay screen productions.

The Essanay Film Manufacturing company, through George K. Spoor, has contracted with George Ade for the exclusive rights to his writings. "Napoleon and the Bumps" will be the first to be released, on May 13.

"Our Mutual Girl's" latest adventure and one that followers of the series will soon witness was taking possession of the battleship Arkansas in the name of the Mutual Film corporation.

"THE SPIDER AND HER WEB."

Arthur Maude, who is producing pictures on the coast for the Kennedy features, in which Constance Crawley and himself are featured, has just completed "The Massacre of St. Bartholomew," in four reels, and is working in "Thais," also in four reels.

"The Redemption of David Corson," with William Farnum in the title role, has been put out by the Famous Players Film company.

J. Fenimore Cooper's wonderful story, "The Last of the Mohicans," is being produced as a five part feature by the Criterion Feature Film Manufacturing company. Over 1,000 Indians are employed in the making of this picture.

"The Fighting Blood" (Lubin). Some excellent scenes both on land and water are shown in this drama. There is a thrilling scene in the last reel where two men struggle in the water. They both go under, but the hero finally comes up with the dead body of his opponent.

"The Perils of Pauline" (Eclectic) is having a big feature run.

Probably no three reel European made subject released in America in the past twelve months has created such favorable comment as the Kleine-Ambrosio "Barber of Seville." Although released only since March 24, the biggest and better class of theaters have sought an early booking.

By Governor MARTIN H. GLYNN

Education is the link which binds the hope of one generation to the achievement of the next. It gives to the eager youth of the present the fruits of all that men and women have done since the morning of the first day. It keeps imperishable the contributions of every age to the PLEASURE AND PROFIT OF THE RACE. It makes the revolutions of yesterday the conventions of today. It proclaims CONSIDERATION FOR HUMANITY, and PREACHES LOVE FOR MAN. It conquers force by persuasion and slays wrong by irony and wit. It fetters prejudice with logic and liberates reason with rhetoric.

TO EDUCATE—TO DRAW FORTH ALL THE SPLENDID POSSIBILITIES OF A HUMAN BEING—is THE NOBLEST TASK THAT ANY INDIVIDUAL OR NATION CAN ATTEMPT. TO EDUCATE—TO PLACE THE HARD WON TRUTHS OF VANISHED YEARS BEFORE THE QUESTIONING AND ASPIRING MIND—is A RESPONSIBILITY THAT RESTS UPON EVERY STATE AND EVERY NATION.

(By United Press.)

Washington, April 22.—Supported by the big guns from the fleet in the harbor, the capture of the entire city of Vera Cruz was begun today at 8 A. M. by Admiral Fletcher's marines and blue jackets, according to a state department dispatch received early this morning.

The dispatch merely stated that under the cover of heavy guns of the ships, the force began an advance at 8 o'clock this morning to take the entire city. Aided by the guns of Prairie, the fleet is shelling the residence section still held by the Mexican. The extent of the damage is not known.

Firing commenced at daybreak.

"Our ships immediately began to shell the southern part of the city," stated a dispatch direct to the President from Consul Canada.

Copies of a proclamation signed by Admiral Fletcher were widely circulated in the city asking aid in restoring order.

"So far I have been unable to communicate with Mexico. Casualties, but believe that up to eight o'clock last night 150 Mexicans had been killed or wounded," stated the secretary of the navy.

brick streets, there would not be as much dust and dirt. A motion was then passed instructing the street commissioner to sweep the streets in the business district every night and the brick streets in the residence district once a week, starting May 1. This arrangement was satisfactory to the Chamber of Commerce and if it keeps the dust down the question of sprinkling will be abandoned.

A petition for cement sidewalks in West Eighth street, from Arthur street west to Spencer street, was referred to the street and alley committee with instructions to report at the next meeting. The petition for a flagman at the Big Four and L. E. & W. crossing in West Tenth street was also referred to the street and alley committee.

Councilman Brann reported that the water and light committee was having trouble with a "water hammer" near Spencer street, in West Third street. There are two dead ends of the water mains there and the pounding is so loud that the people are unable to sleep at night. In order to stop it the main will be extended from Spencer street east to Hannah street and then south to Second street, thus giving a circuit. The pounding cannot be explained, but it is said that due to the dead end and the pressure in the pipes at this point reaches about 400 pounds, it is liable to break the mains.

The city has 2,300 feet of good pipe in the Jones pasture east of the city, extending from the first bridge to the river. This pipe could be used, but due to a law suit over the wells located there, the city can't go there and take it. The city attorney was instructed to take the matter up with counsel for Mr. Jones and see if permission would be granted the city.

R. F. Scudder of the fire committee reported that a team of horses had been purchased for $445 and one of the old horses sold for $110. The report was received and the committee discharged.

City clerk Gunning was instructed to draw an order for $361.35 for interest due on a bond issue of 1895 and send it to a New York banking firm.

An appropriation ordinance for $629 was passed under suspension of rules. The money thus appropriated was for the salaries of the officers of the old administration. Former Mayor Black and all the city officials were given their money last night after a wait of almost four months. This is the last of the bills turned over to this administration by the Democrats in January.

The question of cleaning the alleys again came up for discussion. In many places the people have ob-

Forecast of the Ticket

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., April 22.—Having interviewed many influential politicians of the Republican faith concerning the probable nominees in the Republican convention tomorrow, the United Press today announces the result of its poll. Republicans throughout the state are expecting the following slate to be successful.

For United States Senator HUGH TH. MILLER, of Columbus.
For Secretary of State JUDGE ED. JACKSON, of Newcastle.
For Treasurer of State JOB FREEMAN, of Terre Haute.
For Attorney General ELE STANSBURY, of Williamsport.
For Supt. of Public Instruction DR. HORACE ELLIS, of Vincennes.
For Clerk of Supreme Court JOHN B. LLOYD, of Shoals.
For Geologist W. S. BLATCHLEY, of Indianapolis.
For Judge of Supreme Court QUINCY MYERS, of Logansport.
For Judge of Appellate Court 1st Dis. LUCIEN S. EMBREE, of Princeton.

TRUMAN F. PALMER, of Monticello.
U. S. LESH, of Huntington.

House and all important piers, including those under the terminal works, from which extend the railroads to the capital, were occupied.

The Mexican commander, Gen. Gustavo Maas, offered a stubborn resistance to the American advance, and for many hours there was fighting in the streets. Toward nightfall it was reported that the main body of the Federal garrison was in retreat to the westward.

Rear Admiral Fletcher, in command of the United States warships, prefaced his occupation of the port by a demand, through the American consul, W. W. Canada, for its surrender. Gen. Maas promptly declined to accede to this demand, and shortly afterward ten whaleboats were sent off from the side of the transport Prairies loaded with marines.

These boats effected a landing in the neighborhood of the Customs House before noon, and a few minutes later Capt. William R. Rush of the battle ship Florida, who was in command of the operations ashore, brought his flag in.

Capt. Rush's men had already taken up their positions. They numbered 150 bluejackets from the Florida, 390 marines from the Prairie and 65 marines from the Florida. Later these were augmented by a detachment from the Utah.

The coming of the American forces was not heralded by any great excitement, but small crowds gathered to watch the landing. Soon the bluejackets and marines marched through the streets leading from the water front and along the railroad yards. Others proceeded to the American consulate, while still others were deployed along the approaches to Central Plaza, in which Gen. Maas had concentrated his men.

These maneuvers were effected without opposition, but suddenly Gen. Maas challenged the advance with the first shots—a volley fired from a point three blocks from the marines and two blocks south of the main plaza. The marines replied immediately, but the action ceased in a moment. There was a lull for ten minutes, and then another brief exchange from the west end of Montesinos street, where a Federal outpost was stationed.

At 12:30 the firing became general and at 1 o'clock the guns of the transport Prairie went into action.

ATTEND CONVENTION.

Miller, James Fisher, E. B. Lowden, A. C. Stevens, Frank Mullin, Albert Stevens, William Martin, James Smith, Col. E. H. Wolfe, Dr. F. M. Sparks and Charles Frazee.

struck the alley and the council was asked if the street commissioner should clean this. It will be done this time, but in the future affidavits will be filed. Chief Rosencrance told the council that it would have to get the old ladder wagon out of the alley by the city building as it was an obstruction. The wagon will be taken to the water and light plant and made into a dray or wagon for the use of the superintendent.

The city clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for the sidewalk to be constructed in East Seventh street from Willow street to George street on the north side of the street. The improvement was put through by the old council and was ready for the bids to be advertised when their term of office expired. Bids will be received at the special meeting May 8.

Mayor Bebout was empowered to appoint a committee to employ a superintendent or engineer for the street improvements in South Perkins and East First streets. Mayor Bebout appointed Councilmen Seudder, Brann and Sexton to the committee and they were given the right to employ an engineer.

The council is determined that all delinquent water and light patrons shall either pay or be turned off the service. This instruction to the city treasurer will be carried out this time and everyone will be treated alike in the matter.

Vera Cruz, April 22.—The combined fleet of Rear Admiral Fletcher and Rear Admiral Badger are today shelling Vera Cruz. Knocking down the houses where Mexicans have taken refuge in order to pick off American marines. The lighter guns of the vessels are being used, as the full bombardment power of the fleet is not necessary.

The bombardment started at 8 a.m. today after Rear Admiral Fletcher had sent an ultimatum to the mayor and other officials remaining in the city.

Fletcher demanded that the officials see that firing on the marines holding the streets in the vicinity of the consulate cease.

While awaiting a reply the marines held the depot and wharf. They returned the fire of the Mexicans directed at them from the roofs of houses.

Machine guns were brought into play and several buildings were demolished.

Four marines were killed and twenty wounded when marines and blue-jackets took the Vera Cruz customs house late yesterday.

PRELIMINARY WILL BE HELD

Subjects are Announced for Contest to Determine Rushville Representative in State Event.

TRACK TEAM ALSO TO COMPETE

First Annual Meeting of Central Indiana High School League Will be Held at Shelbyville.

The preliminary oratorical contest to select the Rushville high school's representative to the Central Indiana High School league contest to be held in Shelbyville May 8, will be held Friday evening at seven-thirty o'clock in the assembly room of the Graham building.

The interest this year is even greater than in previous years when Rushville was a member of the old association, from which it was dropped last year. There are seven contestants for the honor of representing the local high school and the rivalry between the contestants is great. The contest is expected to be the equal of any ever held here and the new association is expected to prove as great a success as the old one.

Rushville has always finished well towards the front in these contests and will go to Shelbyville with the intentions of bringing back the first prize. Prizes of $5, $3 and $2 will be offered at the preliminary contest Friday night. The contestants have been hard at work on their speeches and expect to make a good showing.

The contest at Shelbyville takes the place of the one in the old league and is the first meeting of the new organization. A track meet will also be held in Shelbyville on the same day as the oratorical contest and Rushville is preparing to send a team.

The contestants in the preliminary contest are Lucile Gray, Marguerite Cartmel, Alleine Budd, Orlando Simmes, Stacy Hinkle, Leah Flint and Forest Webb. The contest will start promptly at seven-thirty o'clock. The order in which they will speak and the program is as follows: Piano Solo—Jean McLanahan. "The Genius of Patriotism"—Lucile Gray.

"The Social Revolution"—Marguerite Cartmel. "The Wandering Jew"—Alleine Budd.

Duet—Mary Louise Poe and Esther Anderson.

"Gettysburg"—Orlando Simmes. "The Solving Principle of Federation"—Stacy Hinkle.

Violin Solo—Janet Dean.

"Toussaint L'Overture" Leah Flint.

"Gustavus Adolphus" Forest Webb.

NO WORD FROM U. S. CHARGE LATELY

Secretary Bryan Admits This Afternoon he Has Had no News From Charge O'Shaughnessy.

SINCE LATE SUNDAY NIGHT

(By United Press) Washington, April 22.—Secretary Bryan admitted under sharp questioning this afternoon that he has no word from Charge O'Shaughnessy since the day before yesterday. Previously it has been stated that O'Shaughnessy had been heard from yesterday, but when Bryan was asked just what O'Shaughnessy had reported, he admitted the last word heard from the charge was a supplement sent to his message of Sunday night announcing that Huerta had definitely ended all negotiations for an apology.

WAR SPIRIT SHOWN THROUGHOUT STATE

Indianians Anxious to Join National Guard as Shown by Work of Recruiting Men.

IT RECALLS DAYS OF 1898

(Special to the Daily Republican) Indianapolis, Ind., April 22.—The war spirit was aflame in Indiana today. From the most notable figures in state politics to the residents of the smaller Hoosier towns the tentative "calls to arms" seemingly had been heard and the response brought to mind the days of '98 and the earlier day of the sixties, when the state rose to do its share toward sustaining the honor and dignity of the nation.

From every city and town in the state wherein national guard companies are stationed came news last night and today that the work of recruiting for the guard was going forward with vigor unapproached since 1898. The companies were filling up rapidly every where, according to an announcement today from Brigadier-General Frank L. Bridges, adjutant general of Indiana. At the recruiting station at 410 North Capital avenue, where Indianapolis guard companies have opened headquarters, many recruits were coming in, General Bridges said.

BECOMES ARMY CHIEF OF STAFF

Major General W. W. Wotherspoon Today Succeeds Major General Leonard Wood.

LATTER GOES TO TEXAS CITY

Washington, April 22.—Major-General W. W. Wotherspoon today assumed his duties as chief of staff of the army, succeeding Major-General Leonard Wood. General Wood has been selected to be commander-in-chief of the army in the event that it is sent into Mexico. He had been formally assigned to command of the Atlantic division, with headquarters at Governors island, New York, but the orders to that effect were canceled as the result of developments in Mexico.

General Wood relinquished his duties as chief of staff at midnight last night. He has arranged to leave for Texas City, if necessary, to take personal command of the military operations in that quarter. General Hugh L. Scott, until recently in command of a cavalry brigade at Ft. Bliss, Texas, today became assistant chief of staff of the army, succeeding General Wotherspoon.

THE CASE OF JENNIE BRICE

CHAPTER XIV.

R. HOLCOMBE was up very early the next morning. I heard him moving around at 5 o'clock, and at 6 he banged at my door and demanded to know at what time the neighborhood rose. He had been up for an hour and there were no signs of life. He was more cheerful after he had a cup of coffee, commented on Lida's beauty and said that Howell was a lucky chap.

"That is what worries me, Mr. Holcombe," I said. "I am helping the affair along—and what if it turns out badly?"

He looked at me over his glasses. "It isn't likely to turn out badly," he said. "I have never married. Mrs. Pitman, and I have missed a great deal out of life."

"Perhaps you're better off. If you had married and lost your wife"—I was thinking of Mr. Pitman.

"Not at all," he said with emphasis. "It's better to have married and lost than never to have married at all. Every man needs a good woman, and it doesn't matter how old he is. The older he is the more he needs her. I am nearly sixty."

I was rather startled, and I almost dropped the fried potatoes. But the next moment he had got out his notebook and was going over the items again. "Pillowslip," he said, "knife, broken; onyx clock—wouldn't think so much of the clock if he hadn't been so damnable anxious to hide the key, the discrepancy in time as revealed by the trial—yes, it is as clear as a bell. Mrs. Pitman, does that Maguire woman next door sleep all day?"

"She's up now," I said, looking out the window.

He was in the hall in a moment, only to come to the door later, hat in hand. "Is she the only other woman on the street who keeps boarders?"

"She's the only woman who doesn't." I snapped. "She'll keep anything that doesn't belong to her—except boarders."

"Ah!"

He lighted his corn cob pipe and stood puffing at it and watching me. He made me uneasy. I thought he was going to continue the subject of every man needing a wife.

But when he spoke he was back to the crime again: "Did you ever work a typewriter?" he asked.

What with the surprise, I was a little sharp. "I don't play any instrument except an egg beater," I replied shortly, and went on clearing the table.

"I wonder—do you remember about the village idiot and the horse? But of course you do, Mrs. Pitman, you are a woman of imagination. Don't you think you could be Alice Murray for a few moments? Now think—you are a stenographer with theatrical ambitions. You meet an actor and you fall in love with him and he with you."

"That's hard to imagine, that last."

"Not so hard," he said gently. "Now the actor is going to put you on the stage, perhaps in this new play, and some day he is going to marry you."

"Is that what he promised the girl?"

"According to some letters her mother found, yes. The actor is married, but he tells you he will divorce the wife. You are to wait for him, and in the meantime he wants you near him—away from the office, where other men are apt to come in with letters to be typed and to chaff you. You are a pretty girl."

"It isn't necessary to overwork my imagination," I said, with a little bitterness. I had been a pretty girl, but work and worry—

"Now you are going to New York very soon, and in the meantime you

GLORIOUS HAIR

Girls and women of all ages want to be beautiful and attractive, but unsightly, thin and lifeless hair destroys half the beauty of a pretty face.

If your hair is losing its natural color, is falling out, dull, streaky, full of dandruff, too dry, or if the scalp itches and burns do not be alarmed, use Parisian Sage. Rub it well into the scalp. It will go right to the hair roots, nourish them, and stimulate the hair to grow long and beautiful. It removes dandruff with one application, stops itching scalp, falling hair and makes the head feel fine.

Parisian Sage supplies the hair with what is needed to make it soft, fluffy, thick and gloriously radiant. It is sold in fifty cent bottles by F. B. Johnson & Co and at all drug counters. Look for the trade mark—"The Girl with the Auburn Hair." Accept no other.

FACTS AND FICTION

Experiences of Rushville Citizens are Easily Proven to be Facts.

The most superficial investigation will prove that the following statement from a resident of Rushville is true. Read it and compare evidence from Rushville people with testimony of strangers living so far away you cannot investigate the facts of the case. Many more citizens of Rushville endorse Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. William Merrill, 332 W. Fourth St., Rushville, Ind., says, "I suffered for quite awhile from weakness in my back. I had a dull pain over my kidneys, often accompanied by headaches. The simplest of my household duties was distressing. I finally got Doan's Kidney Pills at Johnson & Co.'s Drug store and used them. They proved their merit by relieving me."

have cut yourself off from all your people. You have no one but this man. What would you do? Where would you go?"

"How old was the girl?"

"Nineteen."

"I think," I said slowly, "that if I were nineteen and in love with a man and hiding I would hide as near him as possible. I'd be likely to get a window that could see his going out and coming in—a place so near that he could come often to see me."

"Bravo!" he exclaimed. "Of course, with your present wisdom and experience, you would do nothing so foolish. But this girl was in her teens. She was not very far away, for he probably saw her that Sunday afternoon, when he was out for two hours. And as the going was slow that day and he had much to tell and explain I figure she was not far off, probably in this very neighborhood."

During the remainder of that morning I saw Mr. Holcombe at intervals going from house to house. Finally he came back, flushed and excited.

"I found the house," he said, wiping his glasses. "She was there, all right, not so close as we had thought, but as close as she could get."

"And can you trace her?" I asked.

His face changed and saddened. "Poor child!" he said. "She is dead. Mrs. Pitman!"

"Not she—at Sewickley?"

"No," he said patiently. "That was Jennie Brice."

"But—Mr. Howell?"

"Mr. Howell is a young ass," he said with irritation. "He did not take Jennie Brice out of the city that morning. He took Alice Murray in Jennie Brice's clothing, and veiled."

Well, that is five years ago. Five times since then the Allegheny river, from being a mild and inoffensive stream, carrying a few boats and a great deal of sewage, has become a raging destroyer and has filled our hearts with fear and our cellars with mud.

A few days ago, as I said at the beginning, we found Peter's body floating in the cellar, and as soon as the yard was dry I buried him. He had grown fat and lazy, but I shall miss him.

Yesterday a riverman fell off a barge along the water front and was drowned. They dragged the river for his body, but they did not find him. But they found something—an onyx clock with the tattered remnant of a pillowslip wrapped around it. It only bore out the story as we had known it for five years.

The Murray girl had lived long enough to make a statement to the police, although Mr. Holcombe only learned this later. On the statement being shown to Ladley in the jail and his learning of the girl's death, he collapsed. He confessed before he was hanged, and his confession, briefly,

He had met the Murray girl in connection with the typing of his play, and had fallen in love with her. He had never cared for his wife, and would have been glad to get rid of her in any way possible. He had not intended to kill her, however. He had planned to elope with the Murray girl, and, awaiting an opportunity, had persuaded her to leave home and to take a room near my house.

Here he had visited her daily, while his wife was at the theater.

They had planned to go to New York together on Monday, March 5. On Sunday, the 4th, however, Mr. Bronson and Mr. Howell had made their own proposition. When he accepted, Philip Ladley maintained that he meant only to carry out the plan as suggested. But the temptation was too strong for him. That night, while his wife slept, he had strangled her.

I believe he was frantic with fear, after he had done it. Then it occurred to him that if he made the body unrecognizable he would be safe enough. On that quiet Sunday night, when Mr. Reynolds reported all peaceful in the Ladley room he had cut off the poor wretch's head and had tied it up in a pillowslip weighted with my onyx clock!

It is a curious fact about the case that the scar which his wife incurred to enable her to marry him was the means of his undoing. He insisted, and I believe he was telling the truth, that he did not know of the scar—that is, his wife had never told him of it and had been able to conceal it. He thought she had probably used paraffin in some way.

In his final statement, written with great care and no little literary finish, he told the story in detail; of arranging the clews as Mr. Howell and Mr. Bronson had suggested; of going out in the boat with the body, covered with a fur coat, in the bottom of the skiff; of throwing it into the current above the Ninth street bridge, and of seeing the fur coat fall from the boat and carried beyond his reach; of disposing of the head near the Seventh street bridge; of going to a drug store, as per Howell's instructions and of coming home at 4 o'clock to find me at the head of the stairs.

Several points of confusion remained. One had been caused by Temple Hope's refusal to admit that the dress and hat that figured in the case were to be used by her the next week at the theater. Mr. Ladley insisted that this was the case and that on that Sunday afternoon his wife had requested him to take them to Miss Hope; that they had quarreled as to whether they should be packed in a box or in the brown valise, and that he had visited Alice Murray instead. It was on the way there that the idea of finally getting rid of Jennie Brice came to him. And a way—using the black and white striped dress of the dispute.

Another point of confusion had been the dismantling of his room that Monday night, some time between the visit of Temple Hope and the return of Mr. Holcombe. This was to obtain the scrap of paper containing the list of clews as suggested by Mr. Howell, a clew that might have brought about a premature discovery of the so called hoax.

To the girl he had told nothing of his plan. But he had told her she was to leave town on an early train the next morning, going as his wife; that he wished her to wear the black and white dress and hat for reasons that he would explain later and to be veiled heavy; that to the young man who would put her on the train and who had seen Jennie Brice only once she was to be Jennie Brice; to say as little as possible and not to raise her veil. Her further instructions were simple—to go to the place at Horner where Jennie Brice had planned to go, but to use the name of Bellows there. And after she had been there for a day or two to go as quietly as possible to New York. He gave her the address of a boarding house where he could write her and where he would join her later.

He reasoned in this way: That as Alice Murray was to impersonate Jennie Brice and Jennie Brice hiding from her husband she would naturally discard her name. The name Bellows had been hers by a previous marriage, and she might easily resume it. Thus to establish his innocence he had not only the evidence of Howell and Bronson that the whole thing was a gigantic hoax; he had the evidence of Howell that he had started Jennie Brice to Horner that Monday morning, that she had reached Horner, had there assumed an incognito, as Mr. Pitman would say, and had later disappeared from there, maliciously concealing herself to work his undoing.

In all probability he would have gone free, the richer by $100 for each week of his imprisonment, but for two things. The flood, which had brought opportunity to his door, had brought Mr. Holcombe to feed Peter, the dog. And the same flood, which should have carried the headless body as far as Cairo or even farther down the Mississippi, had rejected it in an eddy below a clay bluff at Sewickley.

Well, it is all over now. Mr. Ladley is dead, and Alice Murray, and even Peter lies in the yard. Mr. Reynolds made a small wooden cross over Peter's grave and carved "Till we meet again" on it. I daresay the next flood will find it in Molly Maguire's kitchen.

Mr. Howell and Lida are married. Mr. Howell inherited some money, I believe, and what with that and Lida declaring she would either marry him in a church or run off to Steubenville, O., Alma had to consent. I went to the wedding and stood near the door, while Alma swept in, in lavender chiffon and rose point lace. She has not improved with age, has Alma. But Lida—Lida—I wanted to run out and claim her, my more than child.

I sat down and covered my face, and from the pew behind me some one leaned over and patted my shoulder.

"Miss Bess," old Isaac said gently. "don't take on Miss Bess!"

He came the next day and brought me some lilies from the bride's bouquet that she had sent me and a bottle of champagne from the wedding supper. "I had not tasted champagne for twenty years!"

That is all of the story. On summer afternoons sometimes when the house more good and added to the enthusiasm. They are all sons of William J. Williams, native Welshman. During the year they work in the mines, but at district and state conventions they always appear.

The "Rose City" did itself proud today at the headquarters of Judge Jackson. The headquarters of that popular candidate for secretary of state was littered with roses. Fay Holday of Richmond, who used to be Henry county court reporter, was telling friends how he and Jackson used to fish and hunt together. The stories were all stale and smelled of fish oil.

Exploiting the Antique. A gang of swindlers in Toulouse had for stock in trade a beautiful antique cabinet and a considerable stock of audacity. With these they took for a short lease a historic chateau near Toulouse, installing a venerable old lady to play the part of owner. Then they found a collector of antiques, persuaded him to visit the chateau and sold him the really valuable cabinet at a good round price. After the bargain was concluded they invited the victim to lunch, and while he was eating the meal the real cabinet was replaced by a perfect imitation, which the victim carried off with him. The swindlers before their arrest succeeded in selling their cabinet thirty-three times at prices varying from $500 to $3,000.

Fountain Pens. It is a popular fallacy that fountain pens are quite a modern invention. As a matter of fact, an old work of reference published in 1795 contains an illustration of a fountain pen, the appearance of which is very much like those sold at the present time. Its construction, however, was somewhat elaborate and clumsy, the pen consisting of various pieces of metal which had to be screwed and unscrewed before the pen could be used.

They Didn't Chatter. A doctor attended an old lady from Scotland who had caught a severe cold. "Did your teeth chatter when you felt the chill coming over you?" asked the doctor.

"I dinna ken, doctor; they were lying on the table!" was the pleasant reply. —New York Globe.

Commissions then existing was $317,098.67, while in 1913, the total annual expense of the Boards and Commissions now existing was $533,430.18, an increase of $216,331.51, or 68 percent. If in 1908, we had according to Governor Marshall, too much government, we are certainly boiling over with government now. The Democratic party has significantly failed to keep its promise to the people."

Mr. Maxwell quoted from the reports of the auditor of state for 1908 and 1913, using these two years because the mark the close of the last Republican administration and the beginning of the present administration, as follows:

"In 1908 the expense of the office of Secretary of State was $14,293.89. In 1913 this expense was $38,247.64, an increase of $23,953.75 or 167 percent, and compared with the legislative year, 1907, an increase of 44 percent.

Let us go farther. In 1908 the expense of the Bureau of Printing was $77,037.26, last year $118,352.44, an increase of $41,315.44, or about 54 percent. And compared with the legislative year, 1907, an increase of 23 percent.

"In 1908 the expense of the Board of Education and the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction was $20,808.74. Last year $29,802.62, an increase of $8,993.88 or 43 percent. In 1908, the Library, and Library Commission expended $25,299.00. In 1913 $35,088.93, an increase of $9,789.93 or 38 percent. In 1908 the expense of the Board of Health was $42,886.06, last year $62,393.39, an increase of $19,507.33 or 45 percent. In 1908, the expense of the Board of Charities was $16,343.63. Last year $27,703.67, an increase of $11,360.04 or 70 percent.

In 1913 the expense of the Board of Accounts was $63,550.01. This is the amount paid directly out of the State Treasury, and does not include the thousands upon thousands of dollars paid by the municipalities, counties and townships, for so-called investigations by this Board, many of these reports covering the conduct of ex-officers, so far back that the statute of limitations barred any recovery against the officer or his bondsmen, and these reports being without any practical profit or utility to any one.

"In 1908 the expense of the Railroad Commission was $30,861.96. In 1913 the expense of this Commission and the public service Commission which had been added to it, was $59,251.68, an increase of $28,389.72 or 92 percent.

"In 1908, the aggregate expense of the then three separate departments, known as the Labor Commission, the Department of Inspection, and Inspector of Mines was $29,467.66. Under Democratic rule these three were consolidated under one known as Department of Inspection. One would ordinarily suppose that such consolidation would result in reduced expenditure but, on the contrary, the facts are that one department, in 1913, expended $50,196.36, an increase over the three departments in 1908 of $20,728.70, or 70 percent.

"Then there is the office of gas inspector. I had been under the impression that we no longer had natural gas. In 1908 the expense of this office was $4,273.92, and in 1913 $8,656.18, an increase of $4,382.26 or 102 percent.

Under these figures natural gas ought to be increasing in the State of Indiana.

The last legislative session under Republican rule, that of 1907, cost $130,024.87. That of 1913, $162,507.67, an increase of $32,482.80 or 25 percent."
